WILL BE A LATE EASTER.

Spring Finery Must Be Kept Back Until April 23.

This should be a gay social season for there is going to be more of it than usual. That is, it will be interrupted in an unusual way by the long postponement of Lent. Lent is governed by the date of Easter, and this year the great spring festival is later than it was last year by a month. It is within two hours of being as late as possible for Easter to be.

Easter just misses being early this year, but having lost one chance another does not come for a long time. On account of the advanced date of Easter, Lent is correspondingly late, and among other things the inaugural ball of March 4 comes before Lent. This year the period of social inactivity begins on March 8.

Easter Sunday is the Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox. This happens to be a year when the vernal equinox falls 1:57 o'clock on the morning of March 21. That is to say, the sun steaming along at full speed, bound north on its apparent diagonal trip around the earth, passes the equator very early in the morning of the 21st day of March.

Now there will be a full moon on March 20, and if the sun should cross the line before the moon's monthly fulling, Easter would come on the following Sunday. But the moon is scheduled to get full before the equinoctial period and so another full moon must be waited for, and then the Sunday after that is Easter. The next full moon is April 18, and this will land Easter on April 23.

This is the day the promenaders may display new clothes and bonnets and no matter how springlike the weather, anything before this will be decidedly premature.

A Happy Meeting.

Montpelier, Feb. 7.—A happy meeting between father and son occurred at the Central Vermont station on Saturday evening. Robert Ducker, who is employed in C. C. Holmes meat market, left his native home in England when a young man to seek his fortune in the United States. His father, Benjamin Ducker, remained in England until a short time ago when he came to New York to work. It was arranged that Mr. Ducker, Sr., should come to Montpelier to visit his son. It was expected that he would arrive on the afternoon train but a careful investigation of the passengers revealed no familiar face to Robert Ducker. He went again to the 6:20 train and succeeded finally in finding his father, whom he had not seen for eighteen years, but not until he had passed him twice in the car did he recognize him. Mr. Ducker, Sr., stood for some time looking at the stalwart man in front of him and said "You Central Vermont station on Saturday the younger man insisted and welcomed his father to his home. It was not until Sunday when Robert Ducker was sitting holding his baby that Benjamin Ducker caught sight of a slight scar on his son's face, that he knew, and was convinced of his identity.

IBSEN'S MASTERPIECE.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific; from Maine to Texas, the critical theatre goes has felt the mediocrity of the modern moral play. That the majority of so called problem plays are weak, lacking in their entertaining qualities, is evidenced by their short lives. "Ghosts," the stirring masterpiece of the Norwegian dramatist genius, is not only powerful to the extent of having actually caused strong men to cry out, but only holds the audience in such spellbound attention that after the fall of the final curtain scarcely a person moves until the ushers throw open the exit doors. From the first production of "Ghosts" this season the immense audiences have demonstrated its popularity. Yet it is not the play alone which has won success. Claus Bogel and Adelaide Fitz Allen and their gifted company portray the subtle force of Ibsen's domestic tragedy with such excellence that as characterized by an eminent New York critic: "One forgets one is in a theatre and that the people who move before him are actors."

This wonderful play will be at the Barre Opera House Saturday, February 11th.

Keep Thinking About It. Cough Syrups that are constipating leave the stomach and bowels in a dangerous condition. A cough syrup that is a laxative is sure to give better results. Lix-all is a laxative, and if it fails to cure your cough or cold we will pay back your money.

THEY NEVER FAIL.

That is What They Say About Them in Barre, And It Is, Therefore, Reliable.

Another proof. Some more evidence. Barre testimony to swell the long list of advocates who endorse the old Quaker remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this convincing endorsement of the claims made for that remarkable preparation:

Joseph Barner, stone cutter, Graniteville, says: "I do not want the residents of Barre or anywhere this paper circulates to think that Doan's Kidney Pills, sold at E. A. Drown's drug store, absolutely cured me of kidney complaint, but I want them to thoroughly understand that in all my experience with medicine and prescriptions said to cure disordered kidneys, I never received anything like the assistance I obtained from Doan's Kidney Pills. I tried so many different remedies and obtained so little success that it was only after they were strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been cured of a similar case to me that I commenced the treatment. My back grew stronger, my general health better, and unless I brought any exertion on the muscles of the loins I did not feel the continual lameness and aching. This, to a man who has given up all expectations of ever being helped by the use of medicine, is of considerable value and greatly appreciated."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.
